

Sid McMath to Seek McClellan's Seat in Senate

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Former Gov. Sid McMath, who almost forced Sen. John L. McClellan into a runoff for another term in 1954, said today he planned to seek the Senate seat again in 1960.

He said that was true whether McClellan runs or not.

McMath didn't commit himself finally, pointing out that 1960 is still three years away.

"Regardless of Senator McClellan's plans for 1960, I expect to be a candidate if I am alive and in a position to make the race," he said.

Asking to explain "position," McMath said:

"I mean the capacity to make the race — the physical, financial and personal capacities that have to be considered before you can decide on something like that."

"I'm practicing law now and trying to build up a practice and that race is three years in the future."

The McMath statement confirmed a reference to his plans in an article in this week's issue of Time Magazine about McClellan.

In the article McMath was quoted as saying that "McClellan wears he'll run again in 1960 just to oppose me, and by God, I'll be there to just oppose."

McMath said today he did not use the words, "by God," declaring "I don't use the Lord's name in vain."

McMath praised his prospective opponent for the latter's work as chairman of a Senate committee investigating alleged racketeering in labor-management relations, particularly in the Teamsters Union.

McMath said he thought McClellan "has done an excellent job on this assignment. I've differed with him on a lot of others but have no quarrel with him on this one."

He emphasized the "this." McMath's law firm represents the AFL-CIO in Arkansas and some individual unions. McMath said he had never represented the Teamsters.

McMath was considered a potential challenger for McClellan's job almost from the beginning of McMath's first term as governor in the late 1940s.

McClellan openly supported Francis Cherry when the latter beat McMath for a third term in 1952.

In the 1954 Democratic preferential primary, McClellan got approximately 167,000 votes for nomination to a third term. McMath got approximately 128,000 against the senator, and his total with that of two other opponents lacked about 4,000 votes of forcing McClellan into a runoff.

The Time article said that McClellan planned to retire to practice law in Little Rock with his son, James H. McClellan, after his present term, unless McMath ran for the Senate job.

Offerings in Crusade Can't Foot the Bill

NEW YORK (AP) — If it had to depend on the collection plate, Billy Graham's New York crusade would be running deep in the red. The nightly offerings, the way they've been going, wouldn't half foot the bill.

Some well-to-do individual donors are filling in the gap. Even so, backers still have a financial problem.

"But I'm sure we'll be able to handle it," said Roger Hull, New York insurance executive and chairman of the crusade Executive Committee.

Altogether, mounting television plans for the six-week crusade is expected to cost about $1,200,000. Graham and his team get nothing but their housing.

At the Madison Square Garden meetings, where no special appeals are made, the swift-paced in around $7,000 a night. This means the New York audience has averaged chipping in less than 50 cents apiece.

This is about what planners expected. They count on about $300,000 in the six weeks.

That's $600,000 shy of the estimated costs of the crusade itself, including advertising and rental of the Madison Square Garden.

Ike Fails to Get Support From Arkansas

By GORDON BROWN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Judged on the basis of the early mail, President Eisenhower drew scant response from Arkansas to his plea to the country for support of his Budget.

A check of the eight Arkansas congressional offices three days after the President's televised talk turned up only one letter of support.

On the other hand, there has been a fair sprinkling of letters and telegrams urging reduction of the budget despite the Eisenhower appeal.

"The President apparently had very little effect although it may be a little early to judge fully," said Rep. Norvell, a member of the House Appropriations Committee.

He said he had received no mail urging support of the President and in fact "am still getting mail urging that the budget be cut."

Sen. McClellan's office reported that the presidential plea had brought in only one letter of support for the budget. An Arkansas woman wrote that she believes "the President is right and should be cut regardless."

At the same time, McClellan's office had received half a dozen letters from the state calling for budget cuts.

An aide to Sen. Fulbright said he has received two or three telegrams and three or four letters to the general effect that senders were not impressed with the President's message and the budget should be cut regardless.

One telephone caller told Fulbright's aide, "We want Bill Fulbright to know that we're against foreign aid and for budget cuts—we're hurting."

Rep. Hays said that thus far he has received little mail, one way or the other, as a result of the President's talk. He said he had one telegram, from an oil executive, taking exception to the President's position. But generally, he said, he has received very little mail on the subject of the budget.

Rep. Mills reported no mail supporting the President but a few letters from outside Arkansas urging budget cuts despite the Eisenhower views. He said he had received a copy of a letter in which one of his constituents told Eisenhower before his talk, "You are betraying your campaign promises."

Rep. Timble said he has had no mail supporting the President.

Foreign Workers Quota Increased

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Pressing demands for cotton choppers in the Jonesboro and Blytheville areas have brought about an increased quota of foreigners who may be imported for Arkansas farm work.

The Farm Placement Bureau of the Employment Security Division announced yesterday that the quota has been boosted from 4,025 to 6,700.

Robert H. Radcliffe of the Bureau said the Blytheville quota was raised from 1,040 to 1,940 and the Jonesboro quota from 1,125 to 1,825.

Mexican workers are imported each year during the cotton chopping and cotton picking seasons.

Poppy Special Salute to Dead, Disabled

Mrs. E. P. O'Neal, Child Welfare Chairman, American Legion Auxiliary says:

"Death, disability and broken families are continually bringing hardships and handicaps to children of veterans. Poppy Day contributions help the Auxiliary aid these children, hold families together and give unfortunate youngsters a fair start in life.

The bright red flower you wear over your heart on Poppy Day, May 25th is a special salute to the dead and disabled of three wars — from the Argonne to Korea — and a way to help America's disabled veterans to take care of their own families. Wear yours proudly.

Costello Freed on $1,000 Bail

NEW YORK (AP) — Gambler Frank Costello, free in $1,000 bail while appealing a 30-day contempt sentence, has been provided with a two-man police guard.

Costello left Rikers Island prison yesterday after spending 15 days of his sentence. He was imprisoned May 7 after refusing to tell a grand jury about a reference to "gross casino wins" found on a note in his possession, apparently referring to a $651,284 gambling deal.

The note was found in Costello's pocket after an unidentified assailant grazed his skull with a bullet May 2 as Costello was entering his Central Park West apartment residence.

Harris' Gas Bill Seems to Be a Casualty

WASHINGTON (UP) — The natural gas bill today appeared to have no chance of getting through Congress this year — possibly not next year, either.

A Senate source said today the Democratic leadership sees no point in holding lengthy committee hearings and extended Senate debate this year on a bill whose fate appears uncertain in the House.

President Eisenhower last year vetoed a tougher version of the bill because of the "arrogant" tactics by natural gas lobbyists in backing it.

Chairman Warren G. Magnuson (D-Wash.) said, "Yesterday, his Senate Commerce committee does not plan to take up the bill this year. He said that 'if the House passes it, we'll probably take it up next January.'"

Chairman Owen Harris (D-Ark.) of the House Commerce committee, co-sponsor of the bill, said today in commenting on Magnuson's remarks that "that's up to the Senate." He said he hadn't heard there would be Senate hearings on it this year anyway.

Harris said he hopes to begin drafting the bill when his committee ends scheduled hearings June 4.

The bill would ease federal controls over the prices charged by producers selling natural gas to interstate pipelines. One administration-proposed amendment would allow the federal power commission to consider cost in determining a "reasonable market price." Another would retain the FCC's authority to review "escalator" price increases in existing contracts.

The Senate source said the administration proposed amendments to the bill are unsatisfactory to the natural gas industry. This may hamper chances of the bill's passage next year since the bill was designed to aid the industry.

Other factors against the bill this year, the source said, are the lack of active support by Eisenhower and an expected close vote on the measure in the House.

Missing Question on Quiz Was Trouble

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Missing a question on a television quiz program cost aircraft worker Al Einfrank a small fortune, his wife and even—for a time—his health. But Einfrank says he has no tears, no regrets.

"Being on the $64,000 question was the greatest thrill of my life," said Einfrank, 37, who is back at his $33-a-week truck-driving job at Douglas Aircraft Co.

After he missed a question on geography at the $32,000 level last January, Einfrank said, his wife, Pauline, left him to live with their daughter, Mrs. Robert Gelman of Adolph, Md.

"You darn fool, she told me," Einfrank said. "Why didn't you stop at $2?"

Einfrank said the car given him as a consolation prize for $6,000 bought a cheaper one and drove west.

"I had a breakdown in Tucson, Ariz.," he said. "I guess it was nerves. I spent six days in a hospital there. But I'm okay now."

Einfrank said he has been promoting an appearance on the $64,000 challenge program as soon as they get an authority on geography.

Reds to Reveal Secrets to Get Disarms Pact

WASHINGTON (AP) — U. S. officials find it hard to believe, but they are beginning to think that Russia's bosses really may be prepared to give up some secrecy to get a limited disarmament pact.

This hopeful view will be put to the test in arms control negotiations being resumed in London next week.

Harold E. Stassen, U. S. negotiator, will return to London over the weekend with a new set of American proposals designed to encourage Soviet agreement.

President Eisenhower laid down two broad guidelines for that policy at his news conference yesterday.

He said the United States "must make it possible for others, if they are reasonable, logical men, to meet us half way."

He also declared that in dealing with Russia and its history of "breaking of treaties" the United States must be especially careful to obtain systems of disarmament inspection "in which we can have confidence."

Exactly what Stassen will propose for inspection systems for the partial arms control agreement now under consideration remains to be disclosed. However, at a minimum it would require the presence of international

Knowland, Ike Often Disagree

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — It was almost an understatement when President Eisenhower said of Sen. Knowland of California: "He has got some very strong convictions on the other side of the fence."

Knowland is not only Republican leader in the Senate — but is Eisenhower's closest contact with the Senate. He's been in repeated conference with him since 1953.

Since he might seem the one Eisenhower has to depend on most to get Senate agreement on his ideas, Knowland's record of differences with Eisenhower and opposition to some of his policies is almost startling.

Knowland has no intention of resigning as Senate leader although he has said he will leave the Senate when his term is up next year.

And Eisenhower has no intention of asking him to step out as Senate leader. Knowland has described his job as one for bringing about an area of agreement in the Senate on the administration's programs.

This is a little puzzling. When he opposes Eisenhower, he's a rallying point for all others who feel the same way. He has become a rallying point for the conservative wing of the Republican party.

In 1953 he claimed he had supported Eisenhower 91 per cent of the time in his first two White House years. But this is part of the record of his differences with Eisenhower since becoming Republican leader in 1953.

That year Eisenhower said Communists in government would not be an issue in the 1954 elections. Knowland said it would be. He backed Eisenhower's policy of placing defense contracts in unemployment areas.

Eisenhower was opposed to letting Red China into the United Nations but still wanted to save the U. N. Knowland said that if Red China did get in, he'd resign his Senate seat and work to take the United States out of the world organization.

He wanted — but Eisenhower didn't agree — to break off diplomatic relations with Russia over the shooting down of an American plane. He must have been a real pain to the President when, in 1954, he called for a congressional review of Eisenhower's foreign policy.

He voted for the final version of the constitutional amendment proposed by Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) to limit Eisenhower's treaty-making powers. Eisenhower was against this amendment.

Knowland proposed a naval blockade of the Red China coast to force the Communists to release 13 captured American airmen. Eisenhower was opposed.

When the administration released the record of the wartime Roosevelt-Churchill-Stalin conference at Yalta, Eisenhower said he was against using it for political advantage. Knowland said: "I don't agree with him. I intend to continue to discuss Yalta whenever I believe it is pertinent."

Knowland derided the idea of peaceful co-existence with Russia although Eisenhower said that was the hope of the world. Knowland opposed Eisenhower's sending the Air Force chief of staff, Gen. Nathan F. Twining, to Moscow, although he was invited by the Russians.

He said the United States — which meant Eisenhower — had "retreated from principle" in agreeing to a "package" deal that let four Communist and 12 non-Communist countries into the U. N.

When Eisenhower was willing to talk to the Red Chinese about a cease-fire around Formosa, Knowland doubted the wisdom of Eisenhower's participation in the Big Four meeting in Geneva in 1955 and even cautioned against a "sellout." This hardly reflected confidence in Eisenhower's shrewdness or strength.

This year, despite Eisenhower's repeated pleadings against big cuts in his budget, Knowland has kept calling for a slice of about three billion dollars. And he threw cold water on Eisenhower's program for federal aid to education.

Storms Damage

Two funnel clouds — one 15 miles northwest about 11:45 p.m. and the second 12 miles northeast of the base about 1:30 a.m.

The U. S. Weather Bureau at Little Rock said the early morning twister showed up as a "hole" in its radar reading.

The funnels — none of which were touching the ground — were spawned by a menacing squall line which rolled eastward across Arkansas and decreased in intensity as the temperature dropped early today.

The sightings climaxed a jittery night for residents of nearly half of Arkansas.

North Little Rock police reported that a "thick" cluster of persons took shelter under the foot of the Broadway Bridge. Some brought pillows and blanket, police said.

Turbulent weather activity in northwest Arkansas heralded the new storm threats last night.

The vicious winds struck Springfield only 10 minutes before 6 p.m., when a previous severe weather warning was due to expire. A torrential rain accompanying the storm caused a flash flood.

Police said water two feet deep swept into downtown streets before receding. Several families were evacuated from the outskirts if town.

The town's power was knocked out for three hours. No damage estimate was available immediately.

Storms last night also cut off telephone communications briefly in the nearby towns of Fayetteville and Rogers.

Ike Fails to

Rep. Gathings made the same report.

Rep. Harris said one constituent wrote that notwithstanding the President's views "I still favor a cut in the budget."

Harris said El Dorado business men had advised him that the President did not change their views. They favor cutting the budget.

Arkansans who came to Washington recently to urge funds for getting the Arkansas River development program rolling were optimistic over chances of getting appropriations above budget recommendations.

C. F. Byrns, Fort Smith editor and chief spokesman for the group, said his information indicates the House Appropriations Committee favors the program and might agree to approve the budget amounts. If this is so, he said, he is certain the Senate committee of which McClellan is a powerful member would increase the amount. This would leave the final determination up to a conference committee and since these decisions usually involve compromise, the final amount might be above budget recommendations.

Byrns, incidentally, received numerous compliments for his presentation of the Arkansas River case to both the House and the Senate Appropriations Subcommittees.

He said the United States — which meant Eisenhower — had "retreated from principle" in agreeing to a "package" deal that let four Communist and 12 non-Communist countries into the U. N.

When Eisenhower was willing to talk to the Red Chinese about a cease-fire around Formosa, Knowland doubted the wisdom of Eisenhower's participation in the

but those from poultry and eggs were down.

Crop receipts were $3,100,000, or about the same as a year ago. Returns from wheat and cotton were lower, but those from corn and soybeans rose substantially.

An important factor in this year's strengthening of farm prices and receipts is a further increase, the department said, in export of farm commodities. They currently are running 45 per cent ahead of a year ago. Government export programs account for much of this gain.

Students at Haskell range in age from 14 to 21. A few go on to college for professional study. But 80 per cent take an added two-year vocational course.

Discipline isn't as much of a problem as it is in most high schools. The teen-age Indians are a serious group.

The students come from 35 states and Alaska. They are motivated by a strong yearning to go beyond the pattern of their parents.

Thus Neva Running Wolf, 17, a Blackfoot from Browning, Mont., wants to become an officer worker in a larger town. So do Jeanette Spotted Bear, 19, from the Crow Reservation in Montana, and Pearl Bad Wound, 18, a Sioux from Igloo, S. D.

Miss Merle Jack, 19, of the Tlingit tribe near Juneau, Alaska, aspires to be a secretary.

Dorothy Osceola, 20, a Seminole from the Florida Everglades who is the fifth member of her tribe over to graduate from high school, plans to become a costume designer. She is a descendant of Chief Osceola, who refused to make a treaty with the white men and whose tribal descendants technically still are at war with the United States.

Why don't the students want to go back to their reservations? All give the same answer: "It doesn't have the opportunities."

An exception is William Spotted Horse, 20-year-old student welder whose father, a Crow tribesman, operates an 1,800-acre ranch near Lodge Grass, Mont.

"I want to go home and in time take over my father's place," said William, who also is a prize-winning cowboy. "But my time isn't being wasted. There is plenty of welding to do on a ranch."

Youths Give Up 150 Dynamite Caps

LITTLE ROCK, Mo. — Some 150 ultra-sensitive dynamite caps were recovered from the homes of two teen-agers here yesterday.

Fire inspector V. C. Throckmorton said much of the haul included electric-type caps that "almost anything" could set off.

Police said the youths admitted stealing the caps from a power magazine here.

A junior high school teacher noticed one of the boys nonchalantly twirling one dynamite cap at the end of a piece of wire in the school yesterday. Police were called. They turned the boys over to the sheriff's office after questioning.

Rocky Future for Mexican Movie Business

By BOB THOMAS
MEXICO CITY, (AP) — Though film quality is better and markets are expanding, the Mexican movie industry faces a rocky future.

This was the report of Luis Sanchez Tello, veteran producer here and coordinator for Hollywood locations. He blamed government-induced monopolies for the sad plight of the movie makers.

There are no big, powerful studios in Mexico—and indeed they are withering away in Hollywood, with a few exceptions. All producers are independents, and they must hustle to put together deals.

"The monopolies are squeezing us," said Tello. "Some producers are favored for money-lending, while others find it more difficult. And the exhibition of pictures in Mexico is virtually monopolized so we must accept the monopoly's terms."

As a result of the monopolies and rising labor costs, Tello said, Churubusco studios, largest and most modern in Mexico, is slated to shut down.

Tello, a big, friendly man, started in the film business as a young man. He ran away from his Mexican home to work in Hollywood for six years in the '20s. He returned here in 1930 to make the first Mexican sound picture.

Most Mexican productions take two years to return their investment. The exceptions are those with Cantinflas, who is in a class by himself. He has a financing deal with Columbia, which gives him half the profits. Ten-year-old Cantinflas films still draw crowds in Mexico City.

Mexicans make about 100 films a year. Average cost: $100,000. Cuba is about the best foreign market for Mexican films. The United States has become increasingly important. Los Angeles (largest city of Mexican population next to Mexico City) and New York (big Puerto Rican and Spanish elements) offer good playdates. Revenue also comes from Texas, Arizona and New Mexico.

Because of low labor costs, sets can be built for a third the Hollywood cost. Extras can be had for $2 a day, compared with $21 in Hollywood.

The students told officers a classroom discussion whetted their interest in dynamite. They said they were "very careful" with the charges.

Her Hobby's Dancing, So She Goes — Alone

Dear Dorothy Dix: I recently mentioned to friends that I occasionally go dancing while my husband baby sits. If I had confessed to a murder, I wouldn't have drawn more startled exclamations. Is there anything so wrong about it?

My husband loves to fish — I don't like to dance — he doesn't. So we allow each other freedom in following these amusements. I never allow a man to buy me a drink, coffee or food. I go alone and come home alone. My dancing nights are few and far between, but I do enjoy them. We are a remarkably happy family. I wouldn't do anything to destroy that happiness. VICKI

Dear Vicki: Anything that departs one iota from the conventional norm is cause for shocked surprise to some people. Since your husband isn't complaining, why should anyone else?

Dear Dorothy Dix: I've been going steady with Vinnie for quite a while. We get along very well, but his sister is very jealous of me. She has told many lies about me, which her family believes. Now they have forbidden Vinnie to see me. We have to meet secretly and I don't like to be sneaky about anything. JOYCE

Dear Joyce: Sooner or later, of course, these secret meetings will be discovered and Vinnie's folks will consider them confirmation of the nasty stories their daughter has spread. Respect the orders given Vinnie by his parents. Don't see each other until Vinnie can convince his folks you're okay.

Dear Dorothy Dix: My daughter-in-law won't let me baby sit for her children, nor will she let the little girl, aged 4, spend week ends with me. I've done everything to be a god mother-in-law. In other respects she's very nice to me. HONOR

Dear Honor: Don't try to create situations where none exist. Many parents don't like to leave their children with anyone, nor do they want the youngsters away from them. You'd have more to complain about if your daughter-in-law took undue advantage of your good nature.

Mistrial Declared in Murder Case

CLARKSVILLE, (UP) — Johnson County Circuit Judge Audrey Strait declared a mistrial after the jury failed to agree on a verdict yesterday in the murder trial of Charlie McDaniel, 32, charged with the shooting of Attorney W. J. Morrow last July.

After nearly five hours of deliberation, the all-male, all-white jury emerged and announced it was deadlocked. Nine voted for conviction in a second degree murder charge, and three held out for an acquittal.

McDaniel had been charged with the shooting which authorities said was the apparent result of a long time feud over Morrow's piece of property.

Prosecutor Edward Gordon of Morriston did not say when he would seek a new trial but the case cannot be re-tried until the September term of the circuit court.

Nearly all of a large crowd attending the trial remained in the courtroom during the five hours the jury was out.

May Release Water From Okla. Lake

TULSA, Okla., (AP) — The U. S. District Corps of Army Engineers advises that more rains in the next day or two may make it necessary to release water from Grand Lake Dam. It would result in some flooding along Grand River between the Inke and Fort Gibson in eastern Oklahoma.

The engineers, in a special bulletin last night, said recent rains have raised the level of Grand Lake dam to within two feet of the top of its 755-foot flood control pool.

The dam release is necessary to prevent higher flooding if the reservoir is completely filled in excess of downstream channel capacity before releases are started, the report explained.

Grand Lake reached its highest level in history last night at 553 feet above sea level as swirling flood waters poured into the reservoir from the Spring River in southeastern Missouri.

Three flood gates in Pensacola Dam, official name of the Grand Lake dam, behind which Grand Lake is formed, were dumping water into Fort Gibson Reservoir. The engineers predict Gibson will reach a record level of 574 feet and 20 feet above normal by Saturday.

An engineers' spokesman said it is hoped Fort Gibson will hold all the flood waters during the crisis on the Arkansas River. Present plans are to keep Gibson's gates closed to avoid adding the Grand River flood to the Arkansas load.

The area in eastern Oklahoma is a popular resort spot with fishing the principal activity. Many are attracted from Missouri, Kansas and Arkansas.

White Sox Are Rolling With a 3-Game Lead

By JOE REICHLER
Of The Associated Press

What manager Al Lopez was able to accomplish only once in six years at Cleveland, he may achieve in his first year at Chicago. 1002 East 3rd, Street,
Diamond Cafe. 14-1 Mo.

That would be beating the Yankees.
The White Sox' early whirlwind pace no longer is to be snickered at. Even the experts who predicted a New York runaway are beginning to take the White Sox seriously.

How can you ignore a team which owns a comfortable three-game lead after five weeks of play, a team that was won 20 out of 27, a team that rebounded from three straight defeats by the Yankees to win nine in succession, the last two from the Yankees in their own back yard?

No wonder Lopez merry men were in a jovial mood today as they roared west after cleaning up everything in the east. The Chicagoans capped their best road trip in history yesterday by winning New York 8-4, to increase their winning streak straight from first place three games over Cleveland and four over the third place Yankees.

The Boston Red Sox tied a league record with four home runs in one inning as they routed the Indians 11-0 behind the four-hit pitching of Tom Brewer. Baltimore nipped Detroit 4-3 in 10 innings and Kansas City outslugged Washington 6-0.

Cincinnati protected its one and a half game National League lead over Milwaukee, walloping Brooklyn 8-1 while the Braves were struggling to beat Philadelphia 4-3 in 13 innings. The New York Giants edged Chicago's Cubs 4-3 Pittsburgh and St. Louis were rained out.

Jim Wilson scattered 10 Yankee hits to register his fifth victory against one defeat as the White Sox clubbed starter Johnny Kucks and two relievers for 11 hits. Nellie Fox, who had hit only 19 home runs in 10 seasons in the majors, slammed his second of the year for the White Sox. He also drove a 400-foot fly that Mickey Vernon muffed after a long run in center field, scoring two.

A tight battle between 35-year-old Wilson and young Kucks was broken up in the sixth inning when Chicago scored five unearned runs in four hits and two Yankee errors. Errors by Mantle and Billy Martin and Minnie Minoso's double were the key plays.

Brewer had an easy time registering his sixth Boston victory against two defeats. Sixth inning homers by Gene Mauch, Ted Williams, Dick Gernert and Frank Malzone equalled the four-in-one inning record set by the Red Sox in 1940 and tied by Detroit in 1950. The major league record is five by the 1939 Giants and 1949
Phillies.

Al Piliarek's single in the 10th scored Tito Francona with the run that gave Baltimore its first extra inning victory of four they played this week. Frank Lary, Detroit's 21-game winner in '55, was argued with the loss, his sixth.

Big Gus Zernial slammed two home runs and a single to drive in Three runs as the Athletics snapped a three-game losing streak and ended a string of 29 consecutive scoreless innings.

Johnny Klippstein, who had a 9.45 earned average, and 0-3 record without a complete game, snapped Brooklyn's five-game winning streak with a route-going five-hitter as Cincinnati handed young Sandy Koufax his first defeat. Ed Bailey hit his fourth homerun and Roy McMillan drove in three runs with a double and single.
The defeat dropped the Dodgers into third place, 2 1/2 games behind the Redlegs.

Church Tanner's first home run of the season came in the 13th to give Juan Pizarro, Milwaukee's prize rookie southpaw the decision over Robin Roberts, Philadelphia's ace righthander. Roberts threw a three-run homer to Eddie Mathews in the fifth that erased an early 30 Philadelphia lead. Ed Boutches drove in two of the Phillies' runs with a double and his fifth homer.

Red Schoendienst' ninth-inning single scored Daryl Spencer, who had doubled, with the run that gave the Giants a split in their two-game series with the Cubs.

Two Groups Lining Up Behind IBC

NEW YORK (AP)—Two influential organizations were lined up behind the International Boxing Club today in its stand against a government proposal the IBC says could mean an end to boxing as television has made it.

In this corner: Julius Helfand, chairman of the powerful New York State Athletic Commission.
In the same corner: Tom Gallery, sports director of the National Broadcasting Company, which telecasts the weekly Friday night fights.

Both struck key blows for the IBC while testifying yesterday before Federal Judge Sylvester J.
Ryan in the government's monopoly suit against the IBC, its subsidiaries, and club officials James D. Norris and Arthur M. Wirtz.

Judge Ryan, who has declared the IBC guilty of anti-trust regulations in conspiring to monopolize promotion of fights, is conducting hearings to determine the extent of penalties to be fixed.

The IBC contends such steps day Helfand and Gallery agreed.

Under questioning by defense attorney Kenneth Royall, Helfand said sponsors of the Friday night TV fights probably would withdraw their support if the Garden was not permitted to continue the series.

Asked what effect it would have on boxing, the commissioner said bluntly: "I don't think you would have any boxing."
Gallery testified NBC would not be interested in contracting for less than 52 weekly bouts a year.
"NBC would not be interested in the Friday night fights," he said, "if it could not televise championship bouts that grew out of the weekly series."

He said the average viewing audience for a title bout is 39,000, compared to 19,000,000 for a routine bout.

"Jim likes the idea," said Manager Al Lopez while discussing As always, the only question is his hitting.
"The only thing that keeps him from being a great ballplayer is that he hasn't been able to get on base enough," said Lopez.
Actually, Rivera started out as a first baseman with the old semi-pro Ozarks in New York as a boy.

"One day the centerfielder dropped three balls and they put me out there," he said. "I've been out there ever since until this year, except for Dixie Walker in 1950.

Florida Lopez asked me to try first. I like it fine. Every ball that is hit you've got to be in on the play."

Lopez said he saw Rivera play first base at Atlanta and knew he could do the job.

"I used Jim Landis in all fields in spring training so I knew he could play right," said Lopez.
"Also, he's a righthander batter which we needed. After I looked at our other first basemen I decided to move Rivera."

"Now we have the fastest club
I ever saw. Everybody can run, except Sherm Lollar."

Racketeer Faces Prison Sentence

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Big Jim Elkins, the racketeer who started the Portland vice investigation by deciding to talk last year, today faces a 20-month, $2,000 penalty.

He was sentenced yesterday by U. S. Dist. Judge William East to 20 months in prison and fined $2,000 for wiretapping. Elkins, 56, asked a new trial.

His employee, Raymond Clark, 34, convicted on the same counts, was sentenced to 6 months and fined $300. A hearing on Elkins' motion for a new trial is scheduled for June 17. Meanwhile, the two are out on bond.

Elkins is expected to be the principal witness against others indicted in the year-long vice investigation. He also faces several other indictments, including charges of bootlegging and of accepting a prostitute's earnings.

Bids Taken on Highway Jobs

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Bids will be opened June 5 on surfacing of two sections of state Highway 88 between Benton and Hot Springs, the Arkansas Highway Department announced today.

The proposed project consists of approximately 19.2 miles, beginning near Morning Star, east of Hot Springs and extending to junction of future Highway 67 southwest of Benton.

Bids also will be opened on six other projects at that time. These include surfacing of about 7.7 miles of state highway 9, beginning at Alum Fork, and extending northward generally along existing route in Saline county.

A Hempstead county project involves construction of about 5.2 miles of state Highway 24 between McCaskill to Blevins.

YOUTH DROWNS

MARIANNA (AP) — Thirteen-year-old Bascomb Miller Jr., drowned yesterday while swimming with other boys in the L'Anguille River at the foot of Main Street here. The body was recovered.

Annoyed Youth Kills Mother and Sister

RYE, N. Y. (AP) — A 14-year-old schoolboy shot his mother and older sister to death in a wild burst of rifle fire last night after a quarrel with the sister over his homework.

The father, who hustled a youth, got son to safety and disarmed the older boy, collapsed from a heart attack after police arrived. He was reported in critical condition in a hospital today.

The slayer, Andrew Casey, a tall and stocky Rye High School freshman, was not told his mother and sister were dead. Police described him as "terribly sorry" for shooting them.

Slain in the gunfire — in which at least a dozen shots were fired — were Mrs. Dorothy Casey, 48, and Sheila, 20, an employee of the Rye National Bank.

The 40-year-old father, Gene R. Casey, is a public relations firm executive, and a former reporter for the Boston Globe and magazine writer.

Dist. Atty. Joseph F. Gagliardi of Westchester County and Rye Police Chief Robert Warren questioned the youth and pieced together this account.

Andrew and Sheila quarreled over studies. The enraged boy formerly a member of the rifle club of the Police Athletic League, went to his room and loaded his .22 caliber pump gun. He strode to his sister's room and opened fire on her as she was sitting in a chair.

The mother, in the living room of the two-story, nine-room house, heard the shots and ran upstairs. The father was taken to the kitchen, ran to the stairs in time to see his wife fall dead. He dialed Andrews, hustled the younger son, Michael, 12, to safety, and telephoned police.

"Send a policeman," he cried. "My son is shooting everybody." Andrews surrendered meekly to police.

Sheila was taken to United Hospital at Port Chester, near his new York City commuter suburb, where she died a short time later.

Sid Caesar to Make Film Comedies

NEW YORK (AP) — TV comic Sid Caesar and former network executive Sylvester L. "Pat" Weaver announced yesterday they have entered into a business association.

The announcement said they plan first to make film comedies for presentation in theaters. Some of the pictures will star Caesar.

The comedians last Thursday ended his 10-year contract with the National Broadcasting Co. The contract had seven years to go. Weaver, former president and chairman of NBC, launched the "Show of Shows" program starring Caesar in the early TV days.

BLACKBIRD'S FOLLY

CENTERBACH, N. Y. (AP) — A blackbird dipped his beak into a milk bottle and flew off with a $5 bill to feather his nest.

That touched off an argument between Mrs. John Walsh and her milkman. She knew she had left the bottle empty when he arrived.

While they were arguing, the bill floated to earth. It had slipped out of the bird's beak when he tried to add it to his nest on Mrs. Walsh's roof.

Cowboy singer Gene Autry was born in Toga, Texas, and worked as a youngster on his father's ranch.

He was taken to the Grangerlands Hospital at East View, N. Y., for psychiatric examination under court order. He was charged with juvenile delinquency. Police said that because of his age this was the only charge that could be lodged.

Police and neighbors of the Caseys in the middle-class neighborhood near Long Island Sound said Andrew had a reputation as a good boy and a hard worker who often delivered papers and cut lawns.

A third Casey son, Shawn, is a student at St. Lawrence University, Canton, N. Y.

Juniors and Seniors Enjoy Evening "South of the Border"

This year's theme, selected by the Junior Class of Prescott High School when they entertained with the Annual Junior-Senior banquet on Friday evening at the high school cafeteria, was "South of the Border".

The entrance was marked with a gracefully draped Fiesta skirt and sombrero, Mexican posters and wicker baskets were attached to the wall. Green plants in colorful jugs were placed on each side.

As the guests stepped into the dining patio stars twinkled merrily overhead on a blue sky. A table held an arrangement of fruit and vegetables intermingled with colorful sombreroes, guitars and un sarapes adorned the walls.

The speakers table was placed before a stone wall and was spread with a red and white checkered cloth centered with a wicker basket filled with red gladioli and small white blossoms from which extended garlands of ivy intrapertured with drip candles in gay bottles. Dancing senorita nut cups, napkins and La Programas decorated the covers. Matching decorations were used at the other tables that encircled an artists fountain whose spray of water fell onto floating flowers of various kinds. Potted green plants encircled the base.

Servientes, Virginia Cruse, John Harrison, James Hart, Betty Hendrix, Nelda McBrayer, Jim McKensie, Tim Morrison, Murry Sullivan, Ann Slivindell, Evelyn Tackett, Linda Vandiver and Jim Vandiver in native dress served tamales, frito frijoles, friitos, verde salad, arroz pastel and to.

Kenneth Moore, president of the Junior Class, was master of ceremonies and the following program was presented:

No hay de que la fiesta — (You are welcome to the fiesta) — Senior Moore

Muchos gracias a nuestra hostes — (Many thanks to our host) — Senior Gilbert

Senoritas seis cantar par usted. (Six young ladies, to sing for you) — Senoritas O'Rourke, Keeley, Gill, Horne, Honca, and Cottingham

Materia para pensamiento — (Food for thought) — Senior Edward Smith

La Rumba — Latinamericana — (Latin American Rumba) — Senorita Dail y Senor Yarbrough

Brumas, Brumas y Mas Brumas — (Jokes, Jokes and more Jokes) — Comico Hale

Henderson State Teachers College band furnished the music for the program.

Members of the Junior-Senior Parent Teachers Association assisted by the chamber of Commerce, clubs, various organizations and hundreds of individuals sponsored the events for the remainder of the evening.

Arriving at the Nevada Theater at 11 o'clock for the premier, each young driver turned his car over to the many Dads present to park at the Methodist Church. Alighting from their cars the couples entered Juarez Avenue Mexico City through a door of a hacienda onto a plaza and inspected a typical Mexican Market filled with authentic Mexican pottery, woven baskets, flowers and numerous native wares.

A parrot in a cage warily watched the proceedings. A real live burrow laden with baskets of fruit and a goat were held by Mexican boys. Joey Ciaccio and Pete Tippitt.

Boys and girls in the market were Rita Morris, Patsy Jones, Ruby Joyce Riggs, Murry Sullivan and Jimmy Worthington. Nearby against a hacienda wall a pcon, Jerry Worthington, dozed with his sombrero in front of his face. A little Mexican girl, Cathy Drake, was sitting nearby.

Approaching the plaza the couples were introduced and interviewed by the "Emcees", Miss Frances Thrasher, Vocational Education Director at Prescott High School and Haskell Jones of K. C. M. C. TV Teakana. The plaza walk was paved with cobble stones and centered with a beautiful fountain where colored lights played in the running water. Surrounding the fountain were bowls of greenery and bright colored plants and flowers. Sitting on the curb of the fountain was a native girl, Betty Cottingham, with a basket of flowers atop her head shouting her wares.

In true Mexican tradition the young couples promenaded around the fountain and city plaza while the band played from the kiosk. It is sort of a flirtatious walk. They paused for their pictures to be made in front of a wooden bridge where a Mexican orchestra composed of senoritas and caballeros, Martha Ann Grimer, Mary Francis Harrison, Nelda Allen, Marilyn White, Johnny Yancy and Bobby Downs were posed. The Rio Grande River was in the background.

They entered the Nevada Theater for a showing of "Tea and Sympathy" starring Deborah Kerr and John Kerr through a formal courtyard decorated with flowers in white wrought iron planters and lemon trees. A wrought iron railing also encircled the balcony.

Garlands of greenery formed the arched dome of windows. Little Mexican girls, Carolyn Halton and Janet Bright presented Mexican rings and tie clasps in red and white packages as souvenirs. White wrought iron benches, chairs and tables completed the scene.

The entire setting was outfitted with a border of flowers furnished by the garden clubs of Prescott. The native scenes on the back drops were painted through the courtesy of Will Ed Walker of Hope and Jimmy McBrayer.

Following the premier the young people walked to the Teen-Age Club. The entrance was outlined with blue lights and greenery and flanked by colorful Mexican urns of cactus. They were presented confetti and serpentine by Mexicans, Peggy Warren, Linda Scott, Neddy Duncan, and Al J. Daniel. Greenery and blue lights also lighted the stairway-Silhouettes of peons, cactus plants and Mexican Urns were painted on the walls. Guitars, musical notes and dancing senoritas with various colorful sequin skirts adorned the turquoise blue back drop for the stage. Two hundred floating balloons added to the gaiety. Napkins and coasters were souvenirs from the Moore and McCormack Airlines. Orange juice and fritos were served through the courtesy of Bordens Milk Co. and Fritos Company from the bas decorated with a sarape and cactus plants. Toppies and Hamp Dickens entertained with a floorshow.

The "South of the Border" theme was also carried out at the breakfast served in the Educational Building of the First Methodist Church. Chairs were placed on the lawn and potted cactus plants flanked the entrance. The stairway was entwined with pink roses and potted plants extended to the top of the stairs.

Approximately 300 covers were laid for members of the two classes, their dates and guests at card tables covered with brown paper cloths stenciled with Mexican designs in the corners. Potted cactus plants were placed in the center. Gay fiesta napkins completed the setting. South of the Border pictures decorated the programs that outlined the evenings activities and were donated by the Grace Lines. The programs also held a place for autographs and a small pencil was attached to each one. The menu consisted of rolls, sausage, doughnuts, cheese and coffee, or milk that was furnished by the Borden Milk Company. The walls were gala in the sarape, guitars, Mexican posters and sombreros. Bowls of pink roses were placed at vantage points and a string of red hot peppers festooned the doorway.

The chapel services held in the Sanctuary was a fitting climax for the evening activities. The service was outlined with greenery interspersed with burning white tapers. Lighted with white tapers in seven branched candelabra and flon baskets of Magnolia blooms flanked an illuminated cross. The following program was presented:

Organ Prelude — Mrs. Max Kitchens

Hymn — Holy, Holy, Holy

Prayer — Rev. Seldon Blackburn

Vocal Solo — The End of a Perfect Day by Mrs. Joe Crane

Suez Canal Issue Back on the Shelf

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The Suez Canal issue was back on the shelf today after an inconclusive Security Council debate touched off by France's call for new negotiations on Egypt's unilateral operation of the waterway.

The two-day discussion achieved only one concrete result — a request by Council President Henry Cabot Lodge of the United States that Egypt amplify her rules for running the canal.

Egyptian delegate Omar Loufi indicated he had little intention of making any such amplification.

Loufi received quick support as usual from Russian Delegate Arkady A. Sovolev, who asserted Lodge's summary at the debate reflected the views of individual members and not the Council as a whole.

French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau, who came to New York to press demands for new attempts at a canal settlement more to the West's liking, told the Council the debate had cleared up "important questions."

Observers in Paris had felt Premier Guy Mollet's government was reopening the canal question in an effort to confound critics at home of its domestic policy. If that was the purpose, it also failed. As Pineau spoke, the National Assembly in Paris defeated the Cabinet on a vote of confidence and Mollet resigned.

Both Loufi in a statement and Lodge in his summary ignored a Colombian suggestion for new negotiations on operation of the canal. Pineau said later "maybe" France would agree to negotiations.

The French government announced last week it would ask the Council to "call upon Egypt to comply with the six principles" for a canal settlement that the Council okayed last October. Then Pineau refrained from proposing a resolution after Russia flatly endorsed the declaration Egypt made last month on her operation of the canal and the United States again said the Egyptian should be given a fair trial.

Sermon — Bro. Jimmy Allen

Song — Bless Be the Tie That Binds

Benediction — Lords Prayer in unison led by Rev. Blackburn

Mrs. Jess Hays was chairman of the steering committee this year with Mrs. H. H. McKenzie serving as co-chairman. The all-night party for the Seniors was adopted five years ago after a suggestion from Mrs. Hays, who got the idea for such an event from an article in Cornet. This year Jacques Lowe, a representative of Coronet Magazine was present to photograph events from the beginning to the end and will run a picture story in an early issue of the publication. Clovis Copeland and Harold Phelps assistant directors of Arkansas Publicity and Parks commission of the State of Arkansas also made photographs and the activities were televised over KARK channel 4 Little Rock and several other channels. Recordings were made by the cruscaster of radio station KXAR, Hope by L. B. Tooley who also interviewed the guests at the prom. Photographs were made by the Ed Justice photographers of Hope.

Other committee chairman included: Banquet and Prom, Mrs. Edward Bryson; Premier, Mrs. Frank Gilbert; co-chairman Mrs. Vernon Buchanan, Teen-Age Club, Mrs. E. A. Warren; Breakfast, Mrs. Clifton Yancy; co-chairman, Mrs. Harry Keeley; Chapel, Mrs. J. H. Langley, co-chairman Mrs. M. D. Shell.

A letter of congratulations was received from the Hope Retail Merchants Committee of the Hope Chamber of Commerce.

Many of the Prescott business houses donated their windows in the "South of the Border" theme.

News From the Community of McCaskill

Marvin Vines Urges Continued RCI Work

Pointers on how to keep the community in a prize-winning status in Rural Community Improvement contest and how prize money might be spent were given to the McCaskill community Friday night by Marvin Vines, farm service program director of KTHS Little Rock.

Judge U. G. Garrett, a guest at the McCaskill meeting, cheered the 70 or more persons present, with the statement that bids on the Highway 24 stretch between McCaskill and Blevins would probably be received this month. "It looks like this Highway will be complete this year," the Judge stated.

"You should do more with your forests in this area," Marvin Vines stated in mentioning future activities for the community. "This part of Arkansas can be the capital of the pine growing area, because pines grow faster and taller here than nearly any place else," Mr. Vines pointed out.

"Continue the Bang's disease-prevention program," Mr. Vines urged. "Do you know that Hempstead county is the county that has pioneered in the Bang's disease vaccination program?" he asked.

"The slogan, 'Keep Arkansas Green-keep Arkansas beautiful' is only as good as each individual helps keep the countryside clean and his own home and farm beautiful. Don't be a litter-bug and don't be a firebug," Mr. Vines cautioned.

Mr. Vines suggested that a camera for taking colored slides, along with a projector and screen, might be a worthwhile article for the community to buy. The entire community RCI program could be filmed and the complete story told in colored slides to the judges next year. He urged more news photography for the community.

Special guests at the McCaskill dinner meeting included Mr. Vines and his assistant, also Judge U. G. Garrett, Sheriff Jimmy Cook, County Agent Oliver Adams, and Home Demonstration Agent Lorraine Wylie. Several couples from DeAnn were present. DeAnn recently organized an RCI group.

Mr. and Mrs. William Lee of Sweet Home were also present. Mr. Lowe, agricultural teacher at Blevins, is president of the Sweet Home RCI.

Future Farmers of America

from the Blevins school presented a special program of music and club parliamentary law work. A model meeting was demonstrated by the following boys: Keith Rinehart, president; Gene Earl Jester, John Denton, Prescott, Glen Stead, Leon Long, Wayne Bell, Forrest Hudson, and John Allen Ross. The FFA quartet composed of Jester, Bell, Stead, and Ross sang two solos, all accompanied by Miss Jo Beth Nolen.

Miss Grella Wortham, recent graduate of Blevins High School, will enter Southern State College at Magnolia the first week in June for the summer college semester. Miss Wortham was salutatorian of her high school class and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Wortham.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Moses drove to Conway Saturday to spend a few days visiting Mrs. Moses' mother, Mrs. M. E. Thomas.

Mrs. Ira Moses was hostess to the Home Demonstration club Thursday of last week at her home. Mrs. Lorraine Wylie, home demonstration agent, was a visitor. Mrs. Wylie led a discussion on freezing and canning of foods and gave out several pamphlets of recipes. Mrs. John Gaines also gave a talk on canning. The devotional period was conducted by Mrs. R. G. Shuffield. Mrs. J. G. Prescott, president, presided. The club took under consideration the serving of an organization dinner in the near future and also voted to ask the county health department to test wells used for drinking water in this community.

Piano pupils of Mrs. Arthur Wimmell and their mothers were entertained at a recital-ten at the Wimmell home on Saturday, May 11. Pupils who appeared on the program were Lucretia Bolt, Katie Spicer, Sharon Horton, Marjorie Royston, Panice Floyd, Faustine Hill, Delaine Bonds, Ranny Ross, Paul Stephens, and Grandison Royston III.

BACK IN COURT

NICOSIA, (UP) — Greek Cypriot newsman John Lemoniatas, 22, agreed today the police were correct when they arrested him as he sat in the press section of Nicosia Central Court yesterday covering the murder trial of newsman Nicos Sampson. Lemoniatas escaped only last week from Paphos jail where he was being held on a forgery charge.

No Passport to Girl Linked to Rossellini

BOMBAY, India. (UP) — The government was reported today to have refused to give a passport to Sonali Das Gupta, the beautiful Indian girl romantically linked with Italian Film Director Roberto Rossellini.

Despite emphatic denials by both Sonali and Rossellini reports persisted that the two were in love and that Rossellini intended to take her with him to Italy.

The government action is blocking Sonali's passport apparently resulted from action by the wife of noted Indian Film Director Bimal Roy. She was reported to have gone to Delhi, where she has friends and relatives in the central government who used their influence to hold up a passport which Rossellini has been making every effort to get for Sonali.

The reported romance between the fiery Rossellini, who is married to film star Ingrid Bergman, and Sonali, mother of two, has greatly upset the Indian beauty's family.

Sonali's uncle, who was chief minister of Banaras state, and her father, former surgeon general of Lucknow, put considerable pressure on her to leave Rossellini. But up to now they have not succeeded.

Other members of her family and her husband's family rushed to Bombay from their homes in Calcutta and Lucknow to try to break up the reported romance.

Other relatives and Indian friends have rallied to protect the girl and have succeeded in hiding all negatives and photographs showing Sonali with Rossellini. Even pictures taken eight months ago have disappeared.

Sonali and Rossellini occupy adjoining rooms in the swank Taj Mahal hotel.

Survey Shows Farm Prices Lag Behind

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prices of goods and services farmers use in producing crops and livestock have continued to advance more than prices farmers receive for their products.

In a report on farm costs, the Agriculture Department said today cost rates and prices are about five per cent higher this spring than a year ago. Prices received by farmers, on the other hand, have been running only about two per cent higher.

Fertilizer was said to be the only farm production item that has not shown a net increase in price since last year. Increases in cost rates and prices of other production items from a year ago included: feeder livestock 11 per cent; farm real estate 7; motor vehicles 7; motor supplies 5; farm machinery 5; farm real estate taxes 5; farm supplies 4; seed 4; farm wage rates 4; building and fencing materials 3; and livestock feed 2.

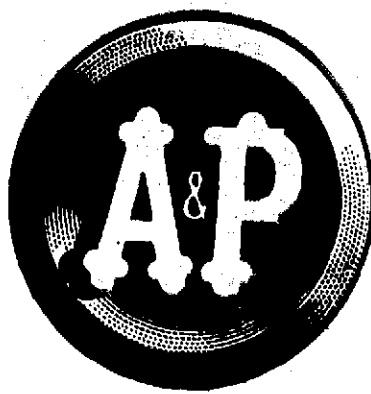

The department said farm production cost rates have more than doubled since 1940, but that some items have increased more than others. Wage rates, for example, were said to be five times higher. The report said the present relationship between farm cost rates and farm prices is about equal to the average for the 20 years preceding World War II but substantially less favorable to farmers than during the war and nearly 10 years thereafter.

The department said, however, that many farms have largely overcome the current disparity between costs and prices they receive by increasing their efficiency.

"They have increased the size of their farms and their use of non-farm goods and services, such as machinery, fertilizer and electricity," the report said. As a consequence, it said, costs of production on a unit basis have declined.

Highest wage rates are being paid in the Pacific Coast states and the lowest in the South.

THEY'LL BE FIRED KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UP) — The Knoxville Transit Lines has warned its bus drivers that any driver who leaves his passengers stranded while he saunters off for a coffee break will be fired.

Two Thugs Are Picked Up for Questioning

CHICAGO (UP) —Federal agents today picked up Mickey Cohen and police arrested Fred Sica to get information on the Chicago underworld.

Cohen, who claims he is a reformed gambler from the West Coast, was rushed before a federal grand jury at work on the affairs of old Capone mobster Paul (The Walrus) Ricca.

Sica, notorious West Coast hoodlum once indicted as head of a million dollar heroin ring was taken before Chief of Detectives Patrick Deley for questioning.

Within minutes, habeas corpus petitions were ready in Chicago courts to free either man should he be detained by police.

Cohen and Sica stopped in Chicago en route to the West Coast from New York. Cohen said that Sica used the name of "McNamara" for the eastern visit and that Sica went to see his 86-year-old mother in New Jersey.

However, Cohen denied that flashy characters with big bankrolls paid him court in New York. "I'm here broke," Cohen said. "Nobody passed out any money. Anybody who says so is blowing his Philadelphia (sic)."

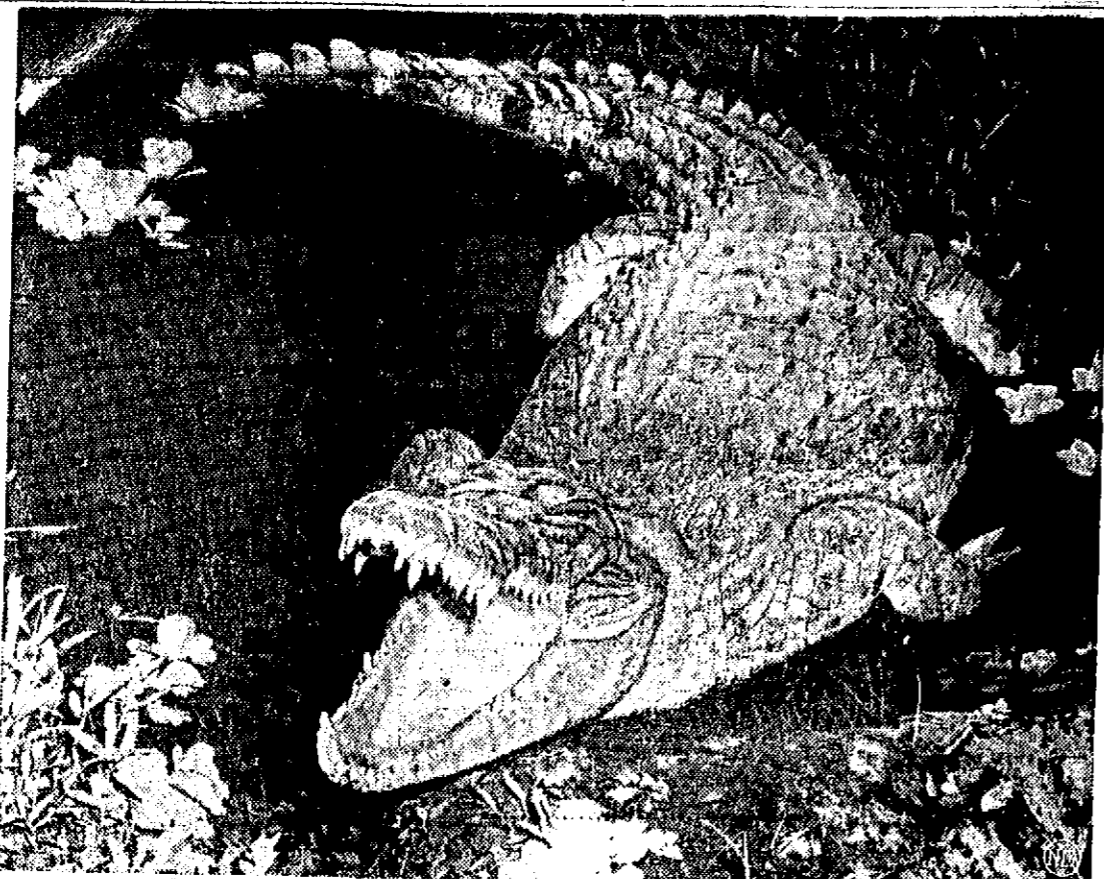

Cohen said he stopped in Chicago to talk with his lawyer about a projected film version of his life. He said he would bet "100-1" that there would be no libel suit as a result of his remarks on a nationally televised television interview in New York.

Cohen challenged Los Angeles Police Chief William Parker to sue him for libel and give him "a chance to prove what I said" in the interview Sunday.

JUST A CRICKET

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UP) —Robert Mathis made a carbon monoxide trap of his automobile yesterday by running a hose from the exhaust pipe through the rear window.

"Suicide? What suicide? He asked excited sheriff's deputies. "There's a cricket in there that's been driving me crazy. I'm gonna get him one way or another."

CAN I PUT THE BITE ON YA?—Not shedding any crocodile tears, this monstrous mehave is ready to match the photographer snap for snap near Stanleyville, Belgian Congo. Startled by the cameraman's flash, the sluggish killer came out of a snooze to roar defiantly. Although the crocodiles take their toll of human lives, as well as other prey, they are protected by native tribes, who consider them a kind of god.

Truman Says U. S. Military Aid Necessary

KANSAS CITY (UP) —Former President Harry S. Truman demanded last night that the U. S. continue its military and economic aid programs for free nations as a deterrent to Communist aggression.

"We must insist on the continuance of our defense programs and our programs to strengthen the power of the free nations to resist aggression," he said in a speech to a Democratic party fund-raising dinner here.

"If the free nations become weaker than the Communist nations, all hope will be gone. If, on the other hand, our defense expenditures and those of our friends indicate our unflinching determination to meet any armed attack with overwhelming force, such an armed attack may never come."

Truman spoke at about the same time President Eisenhower said in a nationwide television and radio speech that a reduction of foreign aid spending would be a "reckless gamble" which could lead to war.

Truman charged recent world events "have brought about a lack of confidence in our influence abroad." He added:

"Not satisfied with bungling our foreign policy, the present executive branch has bailed up our domestic finance; they have mis-handled our public debt; they have tried, for special interests, to bust the farmer, they have put the little businessman out of business; they have cut the throat of the little home owner with high interest rates; they have made the money lender richer, the bloated industrialist more greedy, the blue sky and confidence men are having a field day."

Truman said if the "country doesn't go bust" under the Republican administration, "maybe the Democrats can bring the government back to the people in 1955 and 1960."

GLENDALE, Calif. (UP) —Forest Lawn Memorial Park officials recently purchased two swans to replace a stolen matched pair.

Yesterday they learned why the swans failed to take up house-keeping — they're both female.

Egypt Seizes British Owned Company

CAIRO (UP) —The Marconi radio-telegraph and cable organization in Egypt — chiefly British-owned — has been taken over by the Egyptian government.

Communications Minister Mustapha Khalil announced yesterday the firm was being "Egyptianized" and how is the Foreign Communications Department of the Ministry of Communications. He said the Marconi concession to operate in Egypt expired last January.

The organization handles telegraphed communications in and out of Egypt, including the transmission of news dispatches. It had been sequestered since the British French attack on Egypt last fall.

Khalil said banks had been instructed to transfer Marconi assets into the central bank at Cairo and Alexandria. Anis el Baradei, an Egyptian engineer, was appointed director of the "Egyptianized" organization.

The British Foreign Office in London had no immediate comment, asserting "it's all news to us."

British and French-owned banks and insurance companies already have been Egyptianized. Like firms with other foreign interests have been given a five-year period of grace.

Representatives of Britain and Egypt will meet in Rome Friday to open talks on trade, financially banking and diplomatic relations. It will be the first official contact between the London and Cairo governments since diplomatic relations were broken after the attack on Egypt.

Contractor on Trial for Murder

CLARKSVILLE (UP) —Attorneys made their closing arguments today in the trial of Charlie McDaniel, 52-year-old contractor, on a charge of second degree murder. McDaniel is accused of the fatal shooting of attorney W. D. Morrow last July 2.

Officers said the shooting climaxed a long-standing dispute between the two men over ownership of a house McDaniel had built as a contractor but which Morrow lived in.

McDaniel pleaded self defense. Testimony for both state and defense was completed yesterday.

Witnesses included Mrs. Morrow and her son, and Mrs. McDaniel and her son. The relatives of both men witnessed the shooting.

Lionel Barrymore late stage and screen star was also a talented composer. Among other things, he composed "Farwell Symphony," a one-act opera for four piano pieces.

Youth to Get on His Feet Again

MANORVILLE, N. Y. (UP) —Benjamin Hooper expects to be back on his feet today for the first time since his rescue from the bottom of a well.

The 7-year-old boy is due to leave his bed briefly at Bayview General Hospital in nearby Mastic Beach. He probably will return to his home here Friday or Saturday.

"I'm feeling better," Benny said yesterday. "I want to go out and play."

Last Thursday the youngster tumbled into a 26-foot well dug by his father in the back yard of their home. He was trapped 23½ hours.

AFL-CIO Delays Ethics Meeting

WASHINGTON (UP) —The AFL-CIO today postponed indefinitely a meeting of its Ethics Practices Committee set for Friday to consider charges the Teamsters Union is corruptly dominated.

The action was viewed as reflecting a recognition by the federation of a move within the union to oust Teamsters President Dave Beck.

This took some of the urgency from the issue of action against the union itself.

The ouster movement against

Woman Gets $6,500 From Bus Company

LITTLE ROCK (UP) —A Pulaski Circuit Court jury yesterday awarded Freeda Wright judgments totaling $6,500 in her $75,000 suit against Citizens Coach Co., and Dorothy Mae Payne, Negro, in connection with an alleged scuffle on a city bus last September.

The all-white jury returned a judgment of $3,000 actual damages against the company and judgments of $1,000 punitive damages and $500 actual damages against Mrs. Payne.

Mrs. Wright testified that when she moved from a seat beside Mrs. Payne, the latter attacked her. The bus driver, W. H. Rogers, failed to intercede, Mrs. Wright said.

Mrs. Payne testified that Mrs. Wright called her obscene names and kicked her as she was leaving the seat.

Rogers testified that he stopped the bus when passengers yelled for him to do so. He said he heard no scuffle.

Mrs. Payne was arrested and Beck was being led by 68-year-old John F. English, newly named as an AFL-CIO vice president.

Arizona Wife Slayer Is Put to Death

FLORENCE, Ariz. (UP) —Wife slayer Leonard John Coey was executed in the Arizona State Prison gas chamber here this morning.

Coey, convicted of killing his wife, Elnora, at their home in Phoenix Jan. 27, 1955, was pronounced dead by doctors at 5:12 a.m.

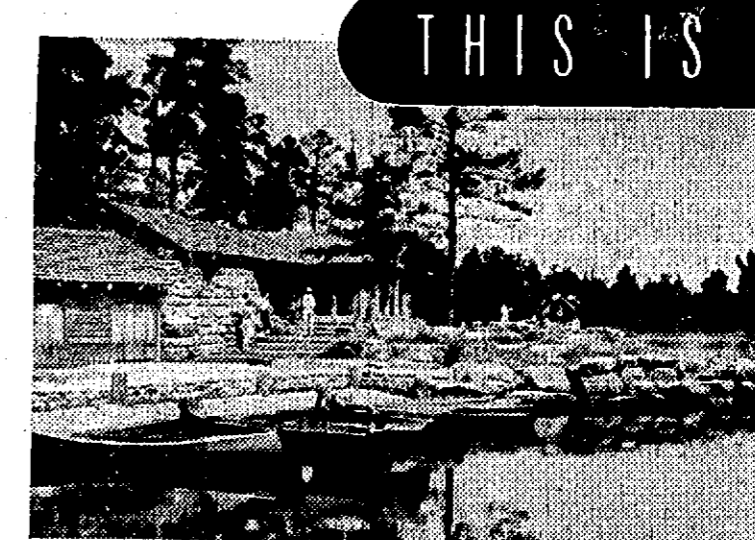

Defense attorneys yesterday made a last-minute attempt to hold off the execution on grounds that Coey was insane. However, prison Warden Frank Eymann and Pinal County Attorney, T. J. Honey, conferred with prison psychiatrists who had examined Coey earlier this month. Those two psychiatrists had stated they found no evidence of insanity during the examination.

Thirty-two persons were present for the execution this morning. The 59-year-old former carpenter walked into the death chamber calmly and without a struggle. He was pronounced dead by Mrs. C. D. Johnson and Tom McCormick of Coolidge, and Dr. Rudolph Hecht of Florence.

CHAPTER XVIII

I was up early the following morning. Suspecting that there wouldn't be many up, I took my time about showering, shaving and getting dressed.

After breakfast, I went into the bathroom. I went back and helped myself to a little very old brandy.

As I came out from behind the bar a flash of movement caught my eye. Someone was in the swimming pool. I reached the pool just as she came across in a fast crawl. It was Wilma Pianta.

"Good morning," I said. "I didn't expect to see you or anyone else around yet."

"Good morning," she said. She didn't sound any different from the way she had the night before. "I always get up early. I like the night and the early morning. I always have."

She had climbed out of the pool and was sitting on the edge. She pulled off her cap and her black hair tumbled down around her shoulders.

"A strange place," I said. "Why does he throw these parties?"

"He likes parties," she said. "Who doesn't? But I never saw a stranger mixture of people together in my life."

"It's interesting," she said. "That's one way of looking at it," I admitted. "Is Johnny Forrester in business with the baron?"

She glanced at me. "I don't know. When I am through in the office, I am through with business."

"Makes sense," I said. "Well, I guess I'll stroll around and look this place over."

"I'll come with you," she said. She slipped her feet into a pair of sandals and stood up.

That wasn't exactly what I wanted, but I couldn't very well tell her to stay where she was.

I saw to it that we walked in the direction of the wine cellar. I wouldn't get a chance to see what was in those cases, but maybe I could at least see if they were still there.

We walked up to the building and I swung the door open. I'd half expected it to be locked, but it wasn't. We stepped inside.

It was cool there with a pleasant smell of moisture. One side of the huge room was lined with racks in which wine bottles lay. On the other side there were shelves containing almost every kind of liquor. Over in one corner, I spotted the three cases I'd seen carried in the evening before.

"Now if I could only back a truck up to this place," I said. "I wouldn't have any drinking problems for the rest of my life."

She smiled and we went on. I'd have to try to slip back later. Now I had to go through with the pretense of wanting to see the place.

We stopped beside the fence and gazed at the woods beyond. I saw some movement in the edge of the woods, but I couldn't see clearly enough to tell what animal it was.

"Baron Gambero is still living in the Middle Ages," she said. "I guessed what was in her mind. Because he won't let women join in the hunt?" I asked.

She nodded. "I could do better than any of them."

"I'll bet you could at that," I said. I looked at her curiously. "Don't you ever feel peculiar about being a guest here?"

"What do you mean?" she asked.

"Baron Gambero," I said. "It's only a few years ago that if you or I could have found Baron Gambero, we would have killed him."

He hasn't changed, but today we sit at his table and eat his food and drink his liquor."

She shrugged, looking sad for a minute. "Times have changed," she said. "It used to be that there was no doubt about who was a friend and who was an enemy. Today it is not so easy. Everybody is all mixed up with everybody else."

I knew what she meant. It was only a few years since we had fought the great war, but already many of the lines were blurred. It was that way all over the world. When it served their purpose, Fascists and Communists and democrats might all sit down together, or any two of them team up against the other. Cynicism was once more abroad in the land.

"Confusing, isn't it?" I said. "I try to give myself a pretty simple rule. There are certain people I dislike, and ones that I like; there are ideas I dislike and ones that I like."

She looked at me. "I like you, Milo," she said. "You know, those days just before and during the war were pretty terrible but also they were good. One had a clearer idea of what seemed right and wrong. As you say, we know what we liked and disliked. I like you, Milo, because you remind me of those days. Everybody else seems to have forgotten what they were really like. I have often forgotten myself. Yet everything was very real in those days. You did something because it had to be done; today we still do things but we're not quite sure why we're doing them."

"I understand," I told her. "But what are you going to do? We'll probably keep on the way we're going until we bring those old days back. We should be able to cling to the values we learned then, without reliving them. Shall we go back to the baron's fascist hospitality? I will stand around and pull my forelocks while he dispenses the haunches of wild boars."

She laughed and we walked back toward the house. She decided to go swimming again and invited me to join her. But I turned down the invitation.

Norrell Doubts Spa Hospital Will Close

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Norrell (D-Ark) said today he doubts the House will vote to end operation of the Army-Navy Hospital at Hot Springs, Ark.

"I believe we can defeat the move, just as we did in appropriations committee yesterday," said Norrell.

He referred to a statement by Rep. Ford (R-Mich), who said that the Army continue to operate the Hot Springs hospital and another at Waltham, Mass.

The House Appropriations Committee yesterday approved the bill with the requirement in it. In doing so the committee rejected a move by Ford to eliminate the requirement.

Ford, in a minority report, contended closing of the Hot Springs hospital would save $395,000 the first year and $528,000 annually thereafter. In addition, he said, military medical personnel at the hospital could be better utilized elsewhere.

Ford insisted other facilities to provide medical care for military personnel and dependents are available within 300 miles of Hot Springs.

Jurisdiction Dispute Goes to White House

WASHINGTON, (UP) — The White House today stepped into a dispute over whether the United States or Japan should try an American soldier for the slaying of a Japanese woman.

Informed sources said a high-level decision could be expected soon.

The case has become a newspaper sensation in Japan where some elements demand the right to try Army Specialist Third-Class William S. Girard of Ottawa, Ill. They contend that American refusal to turn Girard over to Japanese courts violates the U.S.-Japanese status of forces agreement and infringes on Japan's sovereignty.

State Department officials are concerned because the affair has caused a worsening of Japanese-American relations on the eve of a visit to the United States by Japanese Premier Nobusuke Kishi. Kishi is due here June 19 for talks with Eisenhower and other officials.

Army Secretary Wilbur M. Brucker was said to have raised the case at a meeting he attended yesterday between President Eisenhower and Republican congressional leaders.

Brucker later discussed the matter with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and other State Department officials. It was decided to ask Tokyo for more details.

The 23-year-old enlisted man is charged with having killed Mrs. Naka Sakai last January by firing an empty cartridge case from a grenade launcher while guarding a machine gun post at Camp Weir in Japan. The missile struck the woman in the back.

Girard was reported to have been trying to warn shell scavengers away from the area.

The Japanese claim they have the right to try him on criminal charges under the status of forces

Fire Damages Swank Hotel

OSLO, (UP) — Fire damaged a large part of Oslo's swank Grand Hotel today and officials said many tourists with summer reservations would have to be found accommodation elsewhere.

Americans would be particularly hit, an official said.

The defense department first agreed then changed its mind. Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson last week ordered Girard remained in American military custody pending a "review" of the situation.

Twining Wears Cut Means Disaster

NEW YORK (AP) — Gen. Nathan F. Twining, Air Force chief of staff, says any cut now in the nation's defenses "could lead to the ultimate in disaster."

He called the current maintenance of U. S. military might a "great bargain."

"Ten or 15 percent of our gross national product does not seem an excessive price for the security of the other 90 or 95 percent, not to mention American lives," he said.

Twining, recently designated by President Eisenhower to be the new chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, made the statements last night in addressing a dinner given in his honor by the Lotos Club.

"We have in our armed forces a wide capability in all types of weapons for total and limited war and the military capability to act decisively in any conflict," he said. "If we maintain the strength that is within our resources."

He said the United States must be prepared to use nuclear weapons in "small" wars or limited conflicts anywhere in the world the interests of the nation are threatened.
